

Special school gets national recognition

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

A NEW school for autistic children has been singled out for praise in a national report.

Churchill Special Free School in Haverhill's Chalkstone Way is the only special school featured as a case study in Ofsted's annual report, which came out on Tuesday.

The school teaches children and young people aged 8 to 18 years old with autism and communication difficulties and was set up two years ago as part of the Samuel Ward Academy Trust.

Headteacher Georgina Ellis went to the launch event for the report in London on Tuesday.

She said: "I was really proud seeing it there, to actually see it in print."

She went on: "This is a fantastic achievement and a real recognition of how incredibly hard everyone has worked – staff, parents and students who have to work hard to overcome the challenges and barriers they face."

"We have a very clear vision and clarity over what needs to be done. I see every day what a difference we are making to students and how we are helping them achieve in all areas of life."

'OUTSTANDING': Churchill Special Free School. Inset: Georgina Ellis and Howard Lay

The case study in the report explains the school's almost unique set-up as a special school on the same site as a mainstream high school – Samuel Ward Academy.

This enables the pupils to share resources and specialist teaching to drive learning outcomes.

The report continues: "Leaders' relentless pursuit of the best academic and personal achievement for all pupils was exemplary and ensured excellent outcomes. The entire staff were fully engaged in this drive; they demonstrated high aspirations for all pupils through their high-quality teaching. As soon as pupils started at the school, detailed assessment identified gaps in their knowledge and their personal needs."

It also highlights how pupils' needs are met with help from various providers including speech and language therapists, and that staff break down targets into manage-able steps.

This comes after the school received an "outstanding" rating in its first ever Ofsted report in July.

Head of the Samuel Ward Academy Trust, Howard Lay, said: "I feel really really positive about it, and they deserve it."

"The school opened from scratch, and in 18 months to get 'outstanding' reflects how well the school has done."

"What I think is really special about this particular school is the emphasis on learning and outcomes. Although the students have got issues, they get to overcome them and the staff unrelentingly challenge the pupils."

"I am really, really glad we went ahead with the free school despite opposition."

"I am really pleased on behalf of the staff."

Churchill Special Free School had just nine pupils when it opened in 2013, but now has 49, and will reach full capacity with 70 pupils next year.

Over two-thirds of the pupils there access some lessons on the mainstream secondary school site, with even the youngest pupils using Samuel Ward's PE facilities.

CHARITY

CHARITY VISIT: Vicky Ford, MEP, second left, with Ann Merrigan, Lesley Ashford-Smith and Henry Wilson at the REACH foodbank

Appeal to help those in need this Christmas

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

CHRISTMAS might be a time when most of us buy presents and gorge on mince pies – but some people aren't so lucky.

A local charity and an MEP are calling on residents to help out those in need over the festive season in whatever way they can.

REACH Community Projects, which runs a food and furniture bank and supports people in debt, is launching a Christmas appeal.

The appeal is for donations to help with the charity's client aid fund. This fund is used to help buy small things for clients that the charity doesn't already own – it could be a tent for a homeless client or a pair of shoes for someone who's going for a job interview.

Projects manager at REACH, Henry Wilson, gave an example: "There's a lady with a child who's got to go for a hospital appointment, and if the benefit money has stopped how's she going to get there? They're in tears.

CALL FOR DONATIONS: Staff members Tara Nash, Stephen Cook and Ann Merrigan at the launch of the REACH appeal

And we say: 'We will pay for the bus fare, as long as you give us a receipt!'

This is the first time REACH has launched an appeal for donations at Christmas – it took the decision after spending £1,200 more on client aid last year than it received in grants for the purpose.

It is also having its annual Christmas foodbank collection at Tesco over the coming weekend.

Vicky Ford, MEP, visited the charity's foodbank to help prepare some of the hundred hampers that the charity will send out for Christmas.

She said: "They always give me a really good update on what's happening to people in difficult circumstances."

She also urged people to make donations to the foodbank while doing grocery shopping at Tesco this weekend.

To donate to REACH's Christmas appeal, go to reachhaverhill.org.uk and click "Donate". You can also go into the REACH resource centre in Harewood Terrace, open weekdays 2pm to 5pm.

EDUCATION

Students are recognised with awards

CURRENT and former high school students were celebrated at an awards evening last week.

Castle Manor Academy held its annual awards ceremony on November 26.

The school's Year 11 and 13 leavers received awards for academic achievement, for community activity such as mentoring at local primary schools and charity work, and for sporting prowess.

Current students played music and served canapes they had made.

Head of school, Vanessa Whitcombe, said: "This is a wonderful part of our calendar each year."

A PEDESTRIAN crossing which residents and councillors have been campaigning for is being delivered – as a schoolgirl adds her voice to the fight.

The crossing, which resident Ron Davies began campaigning for in autumn 2012, will provide a safe place to cross the A1307 outside Sainsbury's.

The supermarket stands opposite a bus stop, where students – including 15-year-old Ellen Parrett – get off the bus from Cambridge.

Ellen, who lives in Kedington, takes the bus from the stop to her school, St Mary's in Cambridge, every day. She decided to get in contact with Haverhill Town Council about the road as she says it poses a danger to residents.

She said: "It's really unsafe. The cars travel at quite a speed. There's lots of people when I am crossing who are really scared – you can hear them talking about it. You can wait up to ten minutes to cross."

"I cross the road every day to get to the bus stop. I've seen people just run across

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

when there are cars coming."

The same safety concerns were what caused Mr Davies to start the initial campaign three years ago.

He said: "It was when a couple of young lads jumped off the bus and darted across the road. There was a car overtaking the bus and luckily the driver stopped just in time. That's when we had the initial thought."

Ellen wrote to the town council about the issue on November 12 and received a reply on November 20 saying the crossing was about to be installed.

She said: "I was really happy because it's now going to be safe for people."

Mr Davies added: "It's nice to see it started after three years and hopefully it goes according to plan. I would imagine there's a large number of people who will be very glad to see it."

County councillors also became involved in the campaign and donated funds from their locality budgets towards it. These included Cllrs Ann Gower, Mary Evans, Julian Flood, Tim Marks and Tony Brown.

Cllr Brown said: "I'm very very pleased it's happening. It's been a long time coming and there's been a lot of effort from campaigners and councillors to try and get this done."

Work began on the crossing last Thursday and the county council say it will take about three weeks to complete.

The bus stop will be moved to the eastern side of the new crossing and a new footway will be installed. The road leading up to the new crossing will also be resurfaced, from the Park Road mini-roundabout opposite B&Q to the Hanchett end roundabout the other side of Sainsbury's.

The road will not be closed during the works, but two-way traffic lights will be installed so that traffic can continue to flow. The temporary lights will be manually controlled during busy periods.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Appeal against cottage planning decision

THE owner of a historic cottage has launched a planning appeal – after councillors said he couldn't build new homes on the site.

Mr Kenneth Dobinson sought planning permission to build seven homes on the site of Flint Cottage in Bumpstead Road – which may have led to the 200-year-old building being demolished.

The application was unanimously rejected by St Edmundsbury Borough Council's planning committee on October 1.

Mr Dobinson lodged an appeal against this decision on November 27. All representations regarding the appeal must be made via the Planning Inspectorate website before January 15.

Care home rating goes up to good

A CARE home which was rated "inadequate" in June has had its rating improved to "good".

Symonds House care home in Linton received the "inadequate" rating following an inspection by the Care Quality Commission in March at a time when it had no manager in place.

A report published on November 24 says that the home is now "good". It was published after a comprehensive unannounced inspection on October 22.

The inspectors wrote in the new report: "At the comprehensive inspection on October 22, 2015, we found that improvements had been made and the provider was no longer in breach of any of the regulations."

The home received a "good" rating in all five categories: safe, effective, caring, responsive and well-led.

Home manager Julia Cleland said: "I feel absolutely ecstatic. I am very, very pleased that they recognised the hard work that's been put in over the last few months. We are continuing to strive to make Symonds House the best possible place for residents to live."

Pub celebrates cricket star's local connections

SPORTING HERO: Don Bradman during the 1948 tour of England

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

A VILLAGE pub has been redecorated in honour of one of the greatest cricketers of the 20th century.

Bradman's in Withersfield was formerly known as the White Horse. It has been decorated with Don Bradman memorabilia and painted in the Australian colours of green and gold.

But this isn't just the tribute of a fan – the pub, in Hollow Hill, was originally owned by the family of the legendary sportsman.

Pub manager Lee D'Arcy-Jones said: "Around the turn of the century there was a guy called Bradnam who owned the pub."

"He emigrated to Australia and they made a mistake with his name on the immigration papers."

"He had a son who became Sir Donald Bradman, the greatest cricketer who ever lived."

He says that Don Bradman kept up his links with the village

Mr D'Arcy-Jones continued: "There's a lot of memorabilia going up. We have a lot of memorabilia about his team in 1948, when he toured with an Australian side known as 'The Invincibles'."

The pub used to be known as the White Horse, but closed earlier this year.

It reopened as a bar in September after Withersfield's village fete, and re-launched with a restaurant last week.

MUSICAL: Alan Attlesley, standing, with the harpsichord he built and Nigel Brown who will play it

Concert time for Alan's harpsichord

AN instrument built from scratch by a man from Hunder will play a starring role in a concert.

Alan Attlesley, who used to teach at Haverhill's Castle Manor Academy, has been fascinated with harpsichords since the 1970s, and this is the fourth one he has built.

The keyboard instrument was popular from the 16th to the 18th century, and the one built by Alan will be played during a performance of Handel's Messiah, composed in 1741.

The concert, organised by Haverhill Choral Society, will take place at Hunder Church on Saturday, December 12, and the harpsichord will be played by Nigel Brown.

Tickets cost £10 including wine and mince pies. To book call (01440) 714140.

BUSINESS

Company to axe 57 jobs in switch

DRUGS manufacturer Sanofi is axing 57 jobs at its Haverhill site – around a sixth of the 333 employed there.

The jobs will be lost as the company moves its labelling, pack and release activities to the company's site in Waterford, Ireland, where its rare disease medicines are manufactured.

The transfer will not be completed until 2019 and the jobs will be lost in phases – four in 2017, 37 in 2018 and 16 in 2019.

Employees were notified of the job losses last week.

Site manager Jim Moretta said: "It's extremely sad to lose a part of our business which is such a part of the heritage of the site."

"There's a lot of affection for that area of the business because it's where the site came from. I feel very sorry for the employees and families impacted."

A support programme is being put in place for all the employees affected by the job losses.

They will be offered the opportunity to relocate to Waterford and to other Sanofi sites, including Holmes Chapel in Cheshire and Pirbright in Surrey.

Mr Moretta said: "We are going to have some additional money available for locational retraining. We are offering CV support and we will be running job skills workshops through our own training team."

Thirty per cent of the labelling, pack and release activities will remain at the Haverhill site. The main manufacturing that goes on there, of an active ingredient in kidney drugs called Sevelamer, will remain unaffected.

Mr Moretta said the company is looking to expand the manufacturing side of the business.

He said talks are currently under way with a US company about the development of a drug which could result in a new facility opening on the Haverhill site in 2018.

"That's just the one US opportunity," he added. "We are in the process of scouting for other opportunities. We are working with researchers from Cambridge University, we are scouting through Paris."

Mr Moretta said: "We recognise that we are one of the biggest and most important employers in Haverhill and we want to do everything we can to maintain the unique and continuous skillset we have."

Logistics company loses contract

A LOGISTICS company based in Haverhill has lost one of its contracts.

Culina, in the town's Icen Way, will no longer be working with yoghurt company Lactalis, which has taken the decision to move to another provider.

A spokesperson for Culina said they "may need to review manning levels" as a result, but stressed that they were aiming to replace the volume of work lost through new and existing accounts.

The spokesperson continued: "Culina is clearly disappointed to lose the continued opportunity to work with Lactalis, however, the reasons were due to changing customer requirements."

Plan would improve area

THE possibility of a new retail park on the old Project site is marvellous news for Haverhill. Worryingly, our elected representatives seem very quiet about the plan. We can only hope that for selfish, personal reasons or sheer incompetence they do not ruin the development.

This new park, together with the sympathetic development of the Australian Arms, will help to improve an area blighted by the ghastly Atterton & Ellis site.

Bombing is not the answer

WE are horrified by the totally unjustified, and unjustifiable, atrocities in Paris and Mali. It is natural to feel anger, revulsion, and a desire for revenge.

Recent history, if nothing else, however, teaches us that further bombing will do nothing to end terrorism.

On the contrary, ISIS was created during the US occupation of Iraq. The disastrous civil war in Libya followed the bombing of that country by Western powers.

Western military intervention has itself killed or displaced millions. We should understand that the majority of refugees and asylum seekers are fleeing exactly this kind of horror, happening day after day, whether perpetrated by ISIS or others.

The only solution can lie in political and negotiated solutions.

Run and help charity research

DIABETES UK is searching for runners to join the Edinburgh Marathon Festival and run what is known as Britain's fastest marathon course. More than 70 per cent of people entering the Edinburgh Marathon are from outside Scotland and members of Team Diabetes UK come from all corners of the UK.

More than 30,000 runners are expected to take part in races during the Bank Holiday weekend on Saturday, May 28, and Sunday, May 29, 2016, running in the marathon, half marathon, 10k, 5k and junior races. You can also sign up as a team and split the marathon distance between you as part of the Hairy Haggis Team Relay.

The route is known as Britain's fastest course – the flat course and late-May conditions make it the perfect event to get yourself a new personal best. All runners who join the Diabetes UK team will receive a branded vest complete with personalised lettering, crazy hair, a fundraising toolkit, online support and training tips. Money raised from the event will help Diabetes UK to fund research, campaign on key issues, and offer education and support to more people who are living with diabetes. There are 3.5 million people diagnosed with diabetes in the UK, and a further 459,000 who have Type 2 diabetes but do not know it as they have not yet been diagnosed, and these numbers are growing rapidly – but the right support at the right time helps people to manage it and live long, healthy lives.

If you would like to run for Diabetes UK in the Edinburgh Marathon or at one of the many other events we have places at, then contact the events fundraising team on 0345 123 2399 or email events.fundraising@diabetes.org.uk.

HAVERHILL

■ HAVERHILL & District Local History Group was led on a trail of St Edmund at its November meeting by speaker Chris Parkin.

It's a trail of detection because so little is known for certain about the once patron saint of England.

We know Edmund was King of East Anglia from 855-870, but there seems to be three theories for every other aspect of his life.

Was he related to a previous East Anglian king or did he come from Kent or Germany?

Did he win his army's battle against the Vikings to be killed the following day?

Or did he leave the battlefield to be captured, tied to an oak and shot by arrows?

Modern techniques have shown that what are said to be St Edmund's relics, housed at Arundel Castle, are the bones of 11 different people.

Mr Parkin presented a fascinating trail of unanswered questions to his audience.

The next group meeting is on January 27 at 2.30pm at the arts centre.

WESTON COLVILLE

■ ST MARY'S CHRISTMAS FAIR will be held on Saturday, December 5. Solve your present dilemma at this year's fair, to be held in the Reading Room at 1.30pm. There will be locally-made crafts and decorations, as well as a magnificent array of gifts, both traditional and innovative, just right for those inspiring Christmas presents for friends and family. There will be stalls to suit all ages as well as Father Christmas visiting with his elves, teas and home made cakes.

A crafts group meets most Thursday evenings to enjoy making items together. Others are working independently at home.

Donations of cakes for the cake sale and other homemade edible goodies will be most gratefully received. Follow the Facebook page at Weston Colville Christmas Fair for the latest news and pictures. Contact is Philippa Coates (01223) 290842

WEST WRATTING

■ PROGRESSIVE SUPPER 2016 All residents of West Wrattling are invited to join the 2016 Progressive Supper. This will take place on Saturday, January 23, and follows a similar format to previous suppers. This involves providing one course which could be starter, main or dessert for six or more people including oneself/ves in your own home. In return you will visit other homes for the remaining courses. This is planned and advised by Sherry O'Donovan but no one knows, until very close to the time, where they will be going to eat.

Each host provides and serves food and drink for their course. The fee to take part is £5 per person. The supper is not a fundraiser but in paying this £5 there is a commitment which is essential as the supper cannot work without it. The money taken is used largely to provide a drink at The Chestnut Tree at the end of the evening.

Please consider joining in if you have not done so before. It is fun to meet different neighbours.

Numbers are not limited, you do not need to be a couple – singles or threesomes are happily accommodated. The sooner Sherry knows, the earlier she is able to begin planning which helps in considering any special requests.

The deadline for the £5 commitment fee is Christmas, so please don't delay! Please contact Sherry, (01223) 290070 sherry.odonovan@gmail.com Sherry will deliver messages by hand where necessary.

COUNCIL

Free parking for Christmas

CHRISTMAS shopping is enough of a nightmare without having to worry about parking – so one council is trying to make it as stress-free as possible.

From December 11, parking after 3pm will be free in Haverhill car parks.

The project, run by St Edmundsbury Borough Council, will run until Christmas Day.

Leader of St Edmundsbury Borough Council, Cllr John Griffiths, said: "Whether you are buying gifts, stocking up on food and drink, or visiting the many things Haverhill has to offer do take advantage of our 'Free from 3' parking offer."

Last year a pilot scheme was developed with input from the Haverhill Chamber of Commerce. Chair of the chamber, Paul Donno, said: "St Edmundsbury is once again showing it support to town traders during this important time of the year."

HANNAH MIRSKY

However, some councillors feel that more needs to be done to encourage shoppers to come to Haverhill.

Leader of Haverhill Town Council's UKIP group, Cllr Tony Brown, said: "While we in the Haverhill UKIP group support the 'Free from 3pm' parking initiative in Haverhill, it is too little to make any significant difference to the residents or shops, and seems to be no more than a token effort by the borough council, as compared to the amount of energy that has gone into improving the Christmas shopping experience in Bury [St Edmunds]."

"We would like to see some real support to Haverhill traders and shopkeepers by having all Haverhill town centre car parks free to all users from Saturday, December 19, right up until Christmas."

Cllr Griffiths said in response: "I am really rather sorry that the UKIP councillors don't seem to realise that our main source of funding has been cut over the last two years and the car parks cost to run."

"Despite this, St Edmundsbury are seeking to encourage both the people of Haverhill and traders and shops by introducing more free parking than has been offered in Bury St Edmunds. The basic idea is to bring shoppers into the town."

The scheme will be in place at the Ehringshausen Way, Lower Down Slade, Town Hall, Leisure Centre, and The Meadows car parks in Haverhill town centre.

CENTENARIAN: Ruby Barford with deputy mayor Cllr David Roach and Donna Burrows, owner manager of The Swallows

Ruby, aged 100, is a real jewel

WHEN she was born, women didn't have the vote and the First World War was raging.

Now, Ruby Barford is celebrating her 100th birthday and her home, The Swallows care home in Helions Bumpstead Road, Haverhill, held a party for her on Saturday.

Tracey Robb, deputy manager, said: "She is very happy, very smiling, very grateful for anything anyone does for her. She's just a lovely little lady."

Ruby makes such an impression that families of former residents at the home attended the party.

Deputy mayor Cllr David Roach also attended and handed Ruby her telegram from the Queen, and there were performances of Frank Sinatra songs and music hall tunes.

Ms Robb said about Ruby: "She loves music, she loves Frank Sinatra. Any music at all she will sing along to."

Ruby was born in London on November 28, 1915, the youngest of seven sisters and one brother. While all her sisters were named after flowers, she was named after a jewel.

Her daughter Carol Barford, who lives in Steeple Bumpstead, said: "Her ready smile, sharp wit, and gracious manner has endeared her to the excellent care staff at the Swallows, who celebrated her special day, as did four generations of her close family."

Cllr Roach said: "There aren't many people that get to 100. It's still quite a rare thing, and I'm sure we don't have many centenarians in Haverhill."

HEALTH

Health services 'need united effort'

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

THE closure of Haverhill's walk-in centre three years ago is still posing a challenge to healthcare in the town, says one NHS boss – but he thinks services could overcome this by working together.

Dr Ed Garratt, chief operating officer of the NHS West Suffolk Clinical Commissioning Group, met West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock and Haverhill GPs' practice managers for a 'catch-up' on healthcare in Haverhill on Friday.

They discussed recent developments in healthcare in West Suffolk, including a scheme to help care homes and health services work more closely together and new staff at Haverhill practices.

Haverhill's walk-in centre closed in 2012 and the town currently has two GP practices, Haverhill Family Practice and Clements Christmas Maltings. Haverhill is set to grow substantially in the coming years with more than 3,500 new homes set to be built to the north of the town.

Dr Garratt said after the meeting: "I think the challenges are still there from the closure of the walk-in centre. The demand for services in Haverhill is higher than in other parts of West Suffolk. However, what we are seeing is that patient outcomes are outstanding. The challenge is between needs and wants."

He pointed out that according to NHS statistics, West Suffolk has outstanding patient outcomes for cancer, heart disease, strokes and elderly care.

He added: "I think what I would really like to see in Haverhill and everywhere is collaboration."

One new collaborative scheme has just launched at the Meadows care home in Haverhill. It involves social services and healthcare professionals creating a care plan for each resident in case they need emergency treatment.

Another example of collaboration between services is the recent hiring of two paramedics to treat minor complaints at Haverhill GP practices. This is on top of three new GPs being hired at Clements Christmas Maltings.

Dr Garratt also acknowledged that an expanding population and poor transport links to West Suffolk Hospital in Bury St Edmunds are challenges facing Haverhill healthcare providers.

He said improved transport links were something the CCG had petitioned the county council about.

He added about the expansion of the town: "We are working with the local councils to look at the strategy for planning and growth, and healthcare conversations will be part of that. Clearly we will need to plan ahead with the growing population."

HAVERHILL HEROES

Search is on for great volunteer

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

DO you know a volunteer who puts in time and effort to make life better for others? Now's your chance to get them recognised.

The News and the Castle Partnership Academy Trust (CPAT) are on the lookout for volunteers – whether that's individuals, teams or businesses – for the Haverhill Heroes awards.

Vanessa Whitcombe, head of Castle Manor Academy, said: "This category aims to reflect the wonderful work of volunteers in our local community. We are looking for the volunteer that goes further to support others, making our community more vibrant in the process!"

There is also an opportunity for businesses and organisations from Haverhill to get involved in celebrating volunteers by sponsoring this award – this will involve being on the judging panel and helping to choose a prize.

To nominate someone, fill in the form on the right and drop it in the boxes available at the Haverhill Arts Centre and Haverhill Library, or post it to: The Haverhill News, Winship Road, Milton, Cambridge, CB24 6BQ.

You can also visit cambridge-news.co.uk/haverhill and fill out the form there. Descriptions of all the categories are on the website.

CRIME

VICTIM: Alison Folwell fell victim to an email scam which has cost her £2,400

Email scam costs woman £2,400

A WOMAN has been conned out of £2,400 by fraudsters who hacked into her builder's email account.

Alison Folwell, a 38-year-old copywriter, had work done to her house earlier this year, and builder Dan McCallum emailed her requesting payment on Monday, November 9.

The next morning she received an email from Mr McCallum's account asking her to put the money into a different bank account as the payment was urgent.

Ms Folwell, who lives in School Crescent, Kedington, said: "It was all spot on the way that he wrote."

She transferred the money the same day. When Mr McCallum said that it hadn't come through, she emailed him checking the details of the bank account.

It wasn't until that Friday, November 19, that she received a message from Mr McCallum saying he had found her email in the deleted folder, and he had never sent the email with the new bank account details.

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

"You get the cold shivers up the spine," said Ms Folwell.

Mr McCallum now believes that the hacker who sent the bank details started reading and deleting his emails several weeks earlier.

He added: "I feel violated, I suppose. It's not very nice to have somebody looking through all your emails."

One more of his customers was targeted by the fraudster, but Mr McCallum was able to warn him not to transfer any money.

Ms Folwell says she has been told by the bank that the money was transferred out of the bogus account at 3pm on the day it arrived. She says she has been told that because she transferred it willingly and it wasn't her email account that was hacked, she may not be able to reclaim it.

She said: "It's sort of disbelief. You think: 'How can this have happened?'. You go back through everything and check all the details."

Mr McCallum added: "I had sort of read about it, I had seen it on the TV, but I never thought it would happen to me."

He advised people doing business by email to get an account where they own the domain name.

Both Ms Folwell and Mr McCallum have reported the incident to Action Fraud.

For more advice, visit www.actionfraud.police.uk.

CITIZENS' ADVICE

Help over tax credit problem

IN the run-up to Christmas, as financial pressures from cold weather and the festive season set in, the News is running a series of columns from Citizens' Advice Suffolk West on how to save money this holiday season. This week, the experts let you know what to do if you are told your tax credits were overpaid.

Q. HMRC has just contacted me to say that I owe them money as they have overpaid my tax credits. I didn't realise that this could happen, and I don't have enough money set aside to pay them back. What should I do?

A. Tax credits are designed to give working people a little bit of extra income to help guarantee a decent standard of living from work.

Unfortunately, the system by which entitlement to tax credits is decided is complicated and can often lead to people falling into debt when they are asked to repay money they've wrongly been given by HMRC.

Tax credits are gradually being phased into the Government's new universal credit system, which is intended to reduce credit miscalculations and overpayments.

However, while we wait for the system to change, problems with the current process seem to be getting worse. Last year, Citizens' Advice across England and Wales saw a 14 per cent increase in problems relating to debt caused by tax credit overpayments.

The combination of pressures on people's living costs means that being asked to repay tax credits at the end of the year can be a real blow. Sky-high energy bills, expensive childcare and wages which are still failing to keep up with costs mean that it can be a real struggle for households to make ends meet. The last thing hard-pressed households need is for HMRC to put them in more debt.

Often, HMRC will be willing to work with you to see what you can afford to pay back, but in many cases, poor communication and delays by the agency have led to our clients struggling to get a fair outcome.

If you come to Citizens' Advice, we offer free and impartial advice. We may be able to help you to challenge the debt if you feel that it is wrong or there are grounds to dispute it. There is a deadline to challenge an overpayment decision, so you need to check whether you think it could be wrong as soon as possible.

If you are struggling with debt then it's important to take steps to get on top of your bills. Debt can seem impossible but there's always a way out of problems, and we can help you with a debt management plan or budgeting.

Haverhill CAB can be found at Haverhill House, Lower Downs Slade, Haverhill, CB9 9EE. We offer a drop-in service for advice on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, from 10am to 1.30pm. Telephone advice is available on Thursday and Friday from 1.30pm – 3pm. The phone number is (01440) 762194. www.citizensadvice.org.uk also provides information. Volunteering opportunities are available.

Cooking for Christmas at care home

RESIDENTS at a care home celebrated Stir-up Sunday, the traditional day for making Christmas pudding, last weekend.

At Cleves Place care home in Haverhill, head chef Liam White led a day of stirring, tasting and baking.

Residents helped to stir in the ingredients of a Christmas pudding recipe specially created for Care UK by Great British Bake Off finalist Brendan Lynch.

Home manager at Cleves Place, Sharlene

Van Tonder, said about the activities: "Baking has many therapeutic benefits and mixing certain ingredients associated with Christmas can trigger memories and happy feelings from Stir-up Sundays of the past."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Labelling business has 23rd anniversary party

A BUSINESS that makes bespoke labels is celebrating its 23rd year.

Readability, based in Haverhill's Rookwood Way, will be holding a dinner party to mark the anniversary.

The company was set up in 1992 to print labels with barcodes, but soon expanded to print plain white labels. In 2012 it changed direction again and started printing bespoke labels, with success in the e-cigarette market.

Managing director Chris Edney, who joined the company in 2006, said: "Print is an ever changing industry."

He and his wife Helen will host the anniversary dinner party.

Stay safe doing online Christmas shopping

POLICE are warning shoppers to be alert online in the run-up to Christmas.

Last year in the festive period, Suffolk Police received reports of 168 incidents on online shopping and auction fraud, with losses totalling £111,778.

Suffolk's Police and Crime Commissioner, Tim Passmore, said: "Each year more and more of us do our Christmas shopping on-line and every year the number of us becoming victims of fraud increases."

He advised residents to visit www.actionfraud.police.uk to learn about safety online before reaching for their credit card.

Dan takes on 26 miles and world record carrying 60lb

RECORD ATTEMPT: Dan Jones will try to run the London Marathon next year in record time carrying a 60lb pack

FOR MORE LOCAL NEWS visit cambridge-news.co.uk/haverhill

A MARATHON isn't enough of a challenge for Dan Jones. The father of two, who lives in Haverhill's Fisher Close, has to complete the 26-mile run with a 60lb pack on his back – while breaking a world record.

Dan will be taking on the London Marathon in April next year, and is going to attempt the fastest marathon ever run while carrying a 60lb pack.

He has registered the attempt with the Guinness Book of World Records, which says that the current record is 4 hours, 39 minutes, 7 seconds. It is held by Japanese army instructor Toru Sakurai, who completed the run during the Tokyo Marathon in February, 2013.

Dan, who served as a Grenadier Guard in the 1990s, will be raising money for the British Forces Foundation. He completed the London Marathon in 2006 and 2007, and regularly runs with a group of friends and the Haverhill Running Club.

Dan said: "Running is great but I kind of like to really push myself to the limit. The guys are always doing silly things, and I always felt

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

I sold myself a bit short with my army career. It was kind of a way to prove to myself that I could do something outside the box.

"I did some training with the special forces reserve unit in Cambridge and we would do runs with a crazy amount of weight on our backs. I just went through the Guinness Book of Records and looked for something."

He hopes to complete the run in around 4 hours 30 minutes.

The British Forces Foundation is a charity which aims to boost morale for UK soldiers by providing top-quality entertainment.

"Being an ex-soldier, it is quite a key part of being out there," said Dan. "It kind of keeps you on the straight and narrow."

He is being sponsored by Richard Hobbs, of Precision Engineering, but hopes to make as much money for the charity as possible through donations.

New take on novel

A TALE of a woman's fight to find fulfilment on her own terms, Jane Eyre follows a Victorian woman who battles poverty, injustice and betrayal.

The National Theatre has created a re-imagining of Charlotte Brontë's masterful novel almost 170 years after it was written, and it is being screened at Haverhill Arts Centre.

Head to the showing to watch this reinvention of Jane's story from her childhood as an impoverished orphan to her romance with the brooding Mr Rochester.

The screening will take place on Tuesday, December 8, at 7pm. Tickets are £15, £12.50, and £10 and available from the Box Office (01440 714140) and www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk.

ROUND UP

● Feather boas at the ready: it's time to enter a fantastical world of glamour and glitter, lots and lots of glitter, at Neon Moon Club's Magical Winter Ball. The internationally-acclaimed burlesque and cabaret club knows a thing or two about putting on a show. No under-18s allowed!

Taking over the Cambridge Union Society, there'll be a spectacular cabaret show, music and lots and lots of dancing as well as clothing, trinkets and treats to browse and buy.

Magical Winter Ball, Cambridge Union Society, Saturday, December 5 at 8pm. Tickets £28.50 (adv) from theonemoonclub.com

Winter warmers...

If the cold, wet weather is leaving you feeling a tad miserable, we suggest you hurry along to Cambridge Junction this Friday for December's Jesterlarf Comedy Club. The laughs come in the shape of side-splittingly funny headliner Ninia Benjamin, who you may recognise from the BBC2 show 3 Non-Blondes, and support acts, Sarah Callaghan and Mark Simmons. Ed Gamble is the compere. It starts at 7.45pm, tickets are £13, and it will cheer you up no end.

■ NOW this sounds completely magical. Broken Glass Theatre Company promise a storytelling spectacular at the Leper Chapel – Cambridge's oldest complete building - this Sunday, with a performance of their original fairytale, Glass Mountain.

Promising an afternoon filled with fairies, wolves, witches and bone boilers (eek), sit back, relax and let your imagination run wild. The event starts at 2pm and is free for children aged between 6 and 12, accompanied by one paying adult (£8/£10) per child. Warm drinks and festive snacks will be available.

■ FOLLOWING the success of Of Mice and Men and Hamlet, there's another chance for cinema audiences to enjoy a National Theatre production this week.

Jane Eyre, the story of one woman's fight for freedom and fulfilment on her own terms, will be broadcast live to over 600 cinemas across the UK on Tuesday, including Vue, Sawston Cinema, Light Cinema and Cambridge Arts Picturehouse.

This acclaimed re-imagining of Charlotte Brontë's masterpiece was first staged by Bristol Old Vic last year, and now director Sally Cookson is bringing her celebrated production to the National in London.

Prepare to be amazed. The performance starts at 7pm. See ntlive.nationaltheatre.org.uk.

In a double-whammy, they're playing on a bill with fellow 70s

R&B-ers Dr Feelgood, which sounds like an ideal combo.

So if you like your music bluesy and vital, explosive and rockin', you know what to do...

■ Nine Below Zero/Dr Feelgood, Cambridge Junction, Thursday, December 10, 7pm. Tickets £19.50 (adv) from junction.co.uk / (01223) 511511.

■ MARK THOMAS returns to the arts centre today with his new show TRESPASS which carries on from where Mark's previous show 100 Acts of Minor Dissent left off. It is his usual mix of theatre, stand up, activism, a dash of journalism and a dollop of mayhem. Mark asks the question: if the ramblers of the 1930s were here now what would they do to open up the cities? How do we turn the skyscrapers and corporate squares into our playgrounds? He sets out to try and carve a small space in the urban world where mischief and random chance can lurk. The show starts at 8pm and is only suitable for 16+ years.

■ The annual CRAFT FAIR will be held tomorrow from 5pm to 8pm and on Saturday from 9.30am to 3.30pm. Find that Christmas present with a difference, not available in the shops. Entry is free, another bonus...

STAMP DUTY INCREASE ON BUY TO LET INVESTORS

On the 1st April 2016, Stamp Duty will be increased from the current level by 3% on any properties purchased in the UK for letting, or as a second home.

As an example, on the current Stamp Duty calculations, our property for sale in Exeter Court at £175,000 would incur a stamp duty charge of £1,000. When the new regulations come in, this would increase to £3,000 if the property was purchased for investment purposes.

If you are thinking of buying a property to let, speak to us about completing your purchase before the 1st April 2016 to avoid a heavy increase on Stamp Duty.

New potholes fund 'is just a drop in the ocean': RAC

A NEW central fund for combating potholes has been described as "a drop in the ocean" by motoring groups.

George Osborne announced £250 million of funding over the next five years for the "permanent" scheme.

RAC chief engineer David Bizley described the policy as "good news", but warned it was "no more than a drop in the ocean in terms of the scale of the problem".

He said: "The Government's own estimated backlog for repairing local roads is up to £8.6 billion, which shows the scale of the funding shortage. We urge local authorities to use this money wisely by carrying out preventative maintenance rather than just short-term remedial repairs."

AA president Edmund King claimed the announcement was "a sticking plaster approach".

He said: "The fund may fill 5,000 holes in Blackburn but it won't cover the national maintenance backlog by a country mile."

The Chancellor was praised after revealing in his Spending Review that the Government will provide up to £250 million for a new permanent lorry park in Kent to relieve pressure on roads when Channel crossings are disrupted.

The procedure currently used is Operation Stack, which involves using parts of the M20 for waiting lorries to park until they can continue their journey.

A consultation will be held to determine the location of the new lorry park.

Roger Gale, Tory MP for North Thanet, commented: "We'll be getting a facility that will be useful to the road haulage fraternity and will take the strain when Operation Stack would otherwise have had to be introduced."

"Hopefully, we will now be able to move forward to properly regulate our lay-bys and our verges so we don't have lorry drivers using the highways and byways as lavatories."

"Some of the lay-bys in east Kent are absolutely revolting. Now we've got the opportunity to provide a proper facility, there can be no excuse for that kind of behaviour."

Steve Gooding, director of motoring research charity the RAC Foundation,

POTHOLE: With a backlog of £8.6 billion according to the Government, £250 million is one twenty-fifth of what is required to resolve the issue said: "After decades of dithering, it is pleasing to see £250 million allocated to keep Kent's roads clear when there is cross-Channel disruption. HGVs should be parked up in permanent sites, not on the motorways."

Mr Osborne's decision to continue the freeze on fuel duty was cautiously welcomed by campaigners.

Quentin Willson, of FairFuelUK, said: "We are grateful to him for the continuing freeze that's lasted five years. But let's not forget, the UK motorist remains the highest levied tax contributor in Europe.

"He could have been more courageous for the economy's sake and cut it by three pence. Be warned, this is probably now a fiscal platform for him to increase duty in the April Budget."

Mr Osborne told the House of Commons that he was maintaining funding for a number of major transport projects.

He announced that the Department for Transport's operational budget will fall by 37 per cent, but declared "we are the builders" as he explained how there will be "the biggest increase for a generation" in the sector's capital spending – up 50% to £61 billion.

The Chancellor backed construction of High Speed 2 – whose first phase will link London with Birmingham – as well as electrification schemes such as the Great Western route from the capital to south Wales.

The £15 billion road investment strategy – the biggest since the 1970s – has been protected.

Outlander PHEV deal

MITSUBISHI'S Outlander PHEV – recently named SUV of the year at the Next Green Car awards – is the the subject of a Duxford Motor Group special limited offer that makes the game-changing, award-winning 4x4 SUV even more attractive.

The dealership in Newmarket Road, Duxford has been selling used Outlander PHEVs at just £299 per month on a three-year PCP deal – and there's also an extra special offer of three years' free servicing on all second-hand Outlander PHEVs bought between those dates.

Steve Bentinck, managing director at Duxford Motor Group, said: "It all adds up to savings for people's pockets as well as for the environment."

Motorways: Maybe the solution is to build up?

THE number of cars on the UK's motorways increased by 1.9 per cent between 2013 and 2014. It's expected there will be a similar rise in the same period from 2014 to 2015, which means more than 65 million motorway miles driven in each of these periods.

When the UK's motorways are under such pressure and expanding the roads network is such a contentious issue, should we be looking for alternatives to widening these roads? In the house building industry, it's long been a problem finding new land to build on, especially in heavily populated areas. The solution here has been to build up, with the ultimate expression of this philosophy being the skyscraper.

Road builders could learn a thing from this way of thinking. If the UK were to adopt "double-decker" motorways, we could double the amount of road space with very little impact on the surrounding countryside. There would be no need to widen existing roads other than at junctions to create a little more space for slip roads on and off the motorway.

Motorways already have a central reservation that would be ideal for positioning the main spine of a support for the upper deck. In the same way some bridges run with traffic on one level and trains on another, we could adapt this design to allow for a two-tier motorway system.

Such a motorway exists already in the UK on a small section of the A167 (M) in Newcastle, so the idea is not such a barmy one and nor is it something that hasn't been tried before. As a result, the technology already exists, it's only the political will that's lacking.

If politicians need another prompt, double-decker motorways could also greatly help reduce road traffic collisions. They could separate out different streams of traffic, placing heavy goods vehicles on the lower deck away from cars.

The consequence of this is much less disparity in the relative speeds of vehicles using the same section of motorway. It would also mean car drivers being less frustrated at slower moving vehicles, which is an important consideration when frustration often leads to poor judgment by drivers.

While not every stretch of motorway would be suited to a double-decker design or require this kind of radical solution to traffic flow, there are swathes of the UK's motorway network that could be improved with such a scheme.

If we want to have freer flowing motorways with less effect on the environment, now is the time to think up rather than out.

HELP: Winter call-outs spike

Don't be part of the breakdown epidemic!

BREAKDOWN cover provider Green Flag is expecting more than 900,000 breakdowns across Britain in December and January, with more than 500,000 coming in December alone.

The last week of the 12th month will be the worst, according to the company's latest predictions, with 105,000 call-outs expected as cars are restarted after being left alone throughout the Christmas break.

Drained batteries are the most common cause of broken car chaos over the winter period. Batteries that are already on their last legs through a mild autumn period can suddenly fail in cold weather.

To help drivers avoid breakdowns this Christmas, Green Flag is recommending drivers seek a battery health check at their local garage.

Baker's blast keeps Rovers streak going

Football

RIKI Baker's 88th-minute strike made it four wins in a row for Haverhill Rovers.

Baker was on target to earn a 1-0 win for Rovers at home to Brantham Athletic in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division.

Martyn Farrant was denied the opener by Brantham keeper Paddy Hawkins, who tipped over Farrant's powerful header from a Michael Shinn free kick.

At the other end, Alex Archer did well to save from Jordan Heath, while Ryan Weaver and Luke Haines both went close for Rovers before half time.

Brantham also had a man sent off just before the break for a bad tackle on Blake Kicks.

Weaver and Kicks had chances to break the deadlock in the second half, yet were unable to do so. However, they eventually found a way through when Baker received the ball on the edge of the box and fired a low shot past Hawkins.

It sealed another win for the hosts and ensured they kept their fourth clean sheet in a row as well.

Haverhill Borough are through to the quarter-finals of the First Division Cup thanks to a 3-1 victory away to Debenham LC.

The match was goalless at the break, with the hosts taking the lead from the penalty spot in the second half.

But Matt Staines got Borough back on level terms following some good build-up play.

Craig Pruden then put them into the lead with a finish from just over 20 yards after being set up by Rory Bone.

And Bone went from provider to scorer late on to seal a home tie with Cornard United on January 23.

Rovers continue in the Premier Division this Saturday when they face the trip to 12th-placed Gorleston.

That is followed by their Suffolk Premier Cup tie at home to National League North side Lowestoft Town on Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Borough remain in cup action this Saturday when they welcome Westerfield United to the New Croft in the Suffolk Senior Cup.

Then AFC Sudbury reserves visit in the league next Wednesday.

WINNER: Riki Baker netted the crucial goal for Haverhill Rovers

Craven shows the way in Challenge

HOWARD Craven's strong showing saw him take victory in Haverhill men's IFF Challenge.

Craven took the overall win with 40 points, which was also good enough to see him win Division Two.

Richard Norden was one point behind him in second and Simon Price took third with 36.

Tim Daniels won Division One on 31, with Tom Walker runner-up on 30 and Eric Armstrong third on 29.

Division Three honours went to Trevor Shipp, beating John Paterson on countback after both scored 31, while Colin Smith was third with 30.

Kim Ward won the November medal after a round of nett 67 in difficult weather conditions.

He won Division One as well, three shots clear of Armstrong in second with Paul Bartlett coming third on 73.

Steve Piotrowski's round of 71 saw him win Division Two and Lee Russell won Division Three on 68.
